25X1 [redacted]

25X1 [redacted] Miss Batty in the office of Representative Donald J. Riegle (R., Mich.) called to let me know that the Congressman had interviewed [redacted] and wanted the Agency to know that he has no way of knowing whether [redacted] information is of any consequence. I attempted to pass this information on to [redacted] but was unable to reach him.

25X1 [redacted] In conversation with George Murphy, on the staff of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy, I mentioned the articles appearing in the 12 December issue of Life Magazine on the Imre and German suicide cases. Murphy said he had seen the full page ad in the New York Times on this and was keeping a lookout for it. I gave him an idea as to the tack taken by deVosjoli in discussing the German cases. Murphy said this recalled to mind his earlier inquiry to us on deVosjoli's first Life article and our reluctance to comment on it. I repeated our position that the Agency did not wish to comment on the validity of deVosjoli's assertions in his article. I indicated, however, that if he had a specific question of fact which he wished to put to us, that was a different matter. I told Murphy we would probably bring someone up in the next few days to discuss some of the more important of these cases and the relationship, if any, to the atomic energy field.

25X1 [redacted] and he might want to pursue this further by checking with the Visa Office. Sourwine thanked me for this information and said he would contact the Visa people.
